

5 Ways AI-Enabled Scheduling

Boosts Productivity, Banishes Burnout

Nothing extinguishes productivity faster than employee burnout. Despite signs of improvement, burnout continues to plague the workforce.

65% of employees have experienced burnout this year

72% say burnout negatively impacts their performance

What is one thing that employers can do to banish burnout?
28% of employees say provide self-service tools

AI-enabled scheduling tools streamline the process, help organizations remain compliant and boost productivity through empowerment. And employees are embracing it.

68% of employees believe AI will improve EX

66% would look favorably upon an employer that leverages AI

20% of employees want their employer to use AI for scheduling

5 Ways AI Improves Scheduling

- 1 Provides a fast, easy approval process for shift swapping
- 2 Improves employee accountability
- 3 Enables flexible setup for shifts and schedule parameters
- 4 Gives managers the ability to notify employees when schedules go live
- 5 Allows employees to collaborate and request shifts they want to work

Learn more ways HR leaders are embracing AI to boost productivity.

Click here to see the data